Alys' Corn Salad

We, along with other members of the whanau, have a family ritual of the "Welcome back the sun BBQ" which is held on the Sunday immediately after Daylight Saving sends the clocks forward and we are rewarded with an extra hour of sunlight.

As Alys and I are not great meat eaters we like to arrive at the feast with lots of salads, much to the horror of Alys' brother Rob who is affectionately known in the family as "Meatasaurus".

Rob was seen and heard to remark that this salad was good and he would like it again... maybe a good one for someone who doesn't like vegetables?

Ingredients

- 450g tin corn kernels
- 110g cashew nuts
- 1 apple
- 1 unsweetened pineapple ring
- 4 sticks celery
- 3/4-cup cottage cheese (we used garlic and chive flavour)
- 1 Tsp lemon juice

Preparation

Strain the sweet-corn and place it in a salad bowl with the cashews. Chop and dice the apple and the pineapple, finely slice the celery and add with the remaining ingredients. Toss all together.

Enjoy... Simcha

Sue's News...

It has been a real treat to have Rabbi Marty and Karen Weiner with us over the Yom Tovim. Marty has educated, amused, shared and generally been an all-round good guy to have here, even for such a short time.

High Holiday services were extremely well-attended, and thanks go to all those involved for the really high standards set, yet again. It was great to see all our recent bnei mitzvah involved and honoured during Yom Kippur.

Sukkot and Simchat Torah went off brilliantly as well, and special thanks to the Rabbi and JoEllen for the interfaith gathering in late October (page 11)

On the grapevine, Helen and Bob Chong are home after an extended trip to see their offshore offspring. They spent part of the High Holidays with Steve at Cornell, and caught up with Rabbi Ed Rosenthal too.

Jeannine and Mike Leibowitz visited offshore offspring also, but only got to go as far as Sydney. Sheena and Paula are both fine, we understand.

Mazel tov to Sue and David Emanuel on their 50th wedding anniversary. They are home after 6 months in Europe, but likely to go away again at any moment! Catch them while you can! (page 3)

Jonathan Dunn has been away and back several times lately, most recently to Rarotonga (I think that's right) after a short trip to the US, and a longer one to Nigeria.

Best of luck to Ben, Osha and Noah Phillips, who have just moved to Brisbane to see how life goes over there. Welcome home, briefly, to Daniel Taylor, visiting from Melbourne.

I am sure that there will be many others whose news I have failed to gather this month. Please let me know so I can include our family news!

Sue

Around the Board table...

Issues discussed at the October Board meeting included:

- The Temple's emergency response plan
- Trialling different prayer books for Shabbat services
- Succession planning for Temple leadership
- Making contact with members over the Yomim Noraim
- Progress on the building maintenance plan
- Attendance at UPJ conferences
- Policy for attendance at Beit Midrash
- Progress on burial policy
- Options for sound system in the sanctuary

If you would like to discuss any of these issues in more detail, please talk to any Board member.

Similarly, if you have a concern or suggestion that you think should be discussed by the Board, please put it in writing and send it to office@sinai.org.nz - attn: Dave Moskowitz.

Board meetings are held on the last Monday or Tuesday of the month.
